Summer Break Green Cleaning

"Green cleaning does not have to be an "all or nothing" idea. Many schools start small and build on each success."

Summer is upon us and that usually means deep cleaning and restoration. Now is the perfect time to begin a green cleaning program, or improve an existing one.

Switch to green cleaning products.

There are many environmentally friendly products available that are cost competitive.

Introduce green equipment such as vacuums with hepa filters to help capture harmful dust and particles.

Use green paper and plastic products and take steps to reduce consumption such as switching from multifold hand towels to larger roll towels.

Educate custodial staff, administrators, teachers and students about what they can do to promote a healthy school.

Starting with small steps this summer could lead to a big improvement by fall.
